How We Calculate Interest. We calculate it separately for each Balance shown in the Interest Charge Calculation table. We use the daily balance method (including new transactions), which includes daily compounding of interest, to calculate interest on your Account. The Interest Charge Calculation Method applicable to your account for Cash Advances and Purchases of goods and services that you obtain through the use of your Account is specified on the front side of this statement and explained below:

Method A - Daily Balance (including new cash advances). The Interest Charge on cash advances begins from the later of the Transaction Date or the first day of the Billing Cycle in which the transaction posts to your Account. There is no grace period.

Method G - Daily Balance (including new transactions). To avoid incurring additional Interest Charges on the balance of Purchases reflected on your monthly statement and, on any new appearing Purchases on your next monthly statement, you must pay the entire 'New Balance in full, shown on your monthly statement, on or before the Payment Due Date

We determine the Interest Charge for a billing cycle by multiplying the daily balance by its daily periodic rate each day in the billing period. To get a daily balance, we take the Balance at the end of the previous day, add new charges, subtract new credits or payments, and make adjustments. We then multiply the daily balance for each Balance each day by its daily periodic rate and add that amount to that day's balance to get the ending daily balance. The Balance Subject to Interest Rate is the average of the daily balances. For more information on how your daily balance (including new cash advances) is calculated, please refer to your Agreement or call our Customer Service Department at (855) 790-8860.

Minimum Interest Charge. If we charge interest, it will be at least $0.50.

How to Avoid Paying Interest on Purchases. Your due date is at least 23 days after the close of each billing cycle. We will not charge you any interest on New Purchases if you pay your New Balance in full by the due date each month. New Purchases are Purchases that first appear on the next billing statement. Interest charges begin to accrue on New Purchases and Cash Advances from the later of the Transaction Date or that ges begin to accide on the William Cycle in which the transaction posts to your Account and continue to accrue until you pay in full and will be billed in the next Billing Cycle.

Your Rights If You Are Dissatisfied With Your Credit Card Purchases.

If you are dissatisfied with the goods or services that you have purchased with your credit card, and you have tried in good faith to correct the problem with the merchant, you may have the right not to pay the remaining amount due on the purchase. To use this right, all of the following must be true:

- 1. The purchase must have been made in your home state or within 100 miles of your current mailing address, and the purchase price must have been more than $50. (Note: Neither of these are necessary if your purchase was based on an advertisement we mailed to you, or if we own the company that sold you the goods or services.)
- You must have used your credit card for the purchase. Purchases made with cash advances from an ATM or with a check that accesses your credit card account do not qualify.
